DO RICHES BRING HAPPINESS?

Some Very Rich Men Say They Do Not. But We Have Not Heard of One of Them Giving Up His Riches.

Do riches bring happiness? This question was recently answered in an unique manner. The New York World sent inquiries to a number of the most wealthy men in the United States—men who have experienced both poverty and riches—and received in reply the following statements:

THE THING IN A NUTSHELL.

Russell A. Alger: Men are no happier when rich than when poor. How can they be? Do you think some great millionaire is any happier driving some famous trotter, who enjoys a national reputation and has cost his owner several thousand dollars, than a $15 a week clerk, hiring a livery stable horse and driving out with his best girl? Not a whit. For $150 a poor man can own a horse that will give him just as much pleasure as a $40,000 Maud S. There you have the whole thing in a nutshell.

ENJOYED FIGHTING POVERTY.

John W. Mackay: I am surprised that anyone should think for a moment that happiness depends upon wealth. I was very happy during my early struggles with poverty. I enjoyed the toil, privation and hardship I endured to win wealth. When a laborer in a New York shipyard, when swinging a pick and shovel as a miner, I was as happy as I can ever be. I must therefore answer your question by saying that I do not think wealth brings happiness.

THE EMPIRE STATE'S GOVERNOR.

Levi P. Morton: When I was a poor young man of twenty years, clerking in a country store, I used to think that if by any wild freak of fortune I could ever accumulate $100,000 I should be the happiest man alive. Now that I possess that amount, and possibly a little more, I do not think I am really any happier than in my poorer early days. Happiness is in no sense dependent upon wealth, for the fact is that when any of us snatch an hour from life's cares to enjoy any of its pleasures, we enjoy them just as much whether we are millionaires or paupers, and for the time being we forget that we are either.

WAS HAPPIER WHEN POOR.

Geo. M. Pullman: For my part I can only say that I am not one iota happier now than I was in the days when I had not a dollar that I could call my own, save that for which I worked from sunny morn to dewy eve. Now that my circumstances have improved, I can wear but one suit of clothes at a time, and that suit is no better than the one I wore then. I ate three square meals a day at that time and cannot eat any more now. Then I had no responsibilities nor cares. I only had to be at my post and do my duty, and when my hours of work were over my mind and body were free as those of a bird. I could go to sleep as soon as my head touched the pillow and sleep soundly until morning. Now that I have the weight of vast interests and business cares resting upon me, both in and out of working hours, I do not sleep so well as then. All things considered, I believe I was quite as happy, if not much happier, when I was poor. Therefore, with all the great advantages and privileges which wealth confers, I do not believe that it brings happiness.

[In tomorrow's issue we will give you the opinions of several other wealthy men on this same subject. Read it; it is interesting.]
